Raising Funds

Proceeds from this event will be used to purchase an emergency room bed with a built in scale and a jaundice tester.

Emergency Room Bed with Scale

In emergency situations, often the response time is crucial. In certain situations, medical personnel needs a patient's weight in order to provide optimal treatment. This bed can obtain a patient's weight whilst still in bed and is beneficial in situations where moving the patient to obtain a weight is not practical.

Transcutaneous Bilirubin Tester

Jaundice is the most common condition that requires medical attention and hospital readmission in newborns. A transcutaneous bilirubin meter can give providers a way to quickly screen newborns without causing harm to the baby caused by heel pricks.
